SOCIOMETRICS PROJECT NO. 3

THE DATA ARCHIVE ON ADOLESCENT PREGNANCY AND PREGNANCY PREVENTION

In October 1984, the scope of the Data Archive on Adolescent Pregnancy and Pregnancy Prevention (DAAPPP) was expanded to include not only data sets relating to adolescent pregnancy but also data sets relating to family planning. A Request for Proposals to continue the operations of the expanded archive was issued by the Office of Population Affairs (which office houses both the Office of Adolescent Pregnancy Programs and the Office of Family Planning). A new, three-year contract was awarded to Sociometrics Corporation.

Under terms of this contract, DAAPPP was augmented to include computer-readable data and documentation from 109 of the most valuable studies dealing with adolescent family life, sexuality, contraception, pregnancy, childbearing, and parenting, and with family planning. Nationwide technical assistance and user-training workshops were also provided by DAAPPP staff. This contract was subsequently renewed (see Project Nos. 16, 29, 46; see also Project No. 105).
