REPORT ON HEAD START—JOHNSON & JOHNSON MANAGEMENT FELLOWS PROGRAM'S EVALUATION INFRASTRUCTURE

Johnson & Johnson Corporate Giving contracted Sociometrics to assess the evaluation infrastructure for the Head Start – Johnson & Johnson Management Fellows Program at UCLA, a two-week executive and entrepreneurial management training program for Head Start managers and their supervisors. Specific tasks included observing the training program; meeting with faculty, staff, and Fellows; reviewing the program's existing evaluation procedures and results; and produce a brief report summarizing program activities and apparent areas of strength, strengths and weaknesses of the current evaluation infrastructure and procedures, and how the evaluation could be expanded and improved.
